

BARTLIT BECK WINS BACK-TO-BACK TRIALS AGAINST HONEYWELL AND KIRKLAND & ELLIS

Honeywell v. Hamilton Sundstrand (2005)

Bartlit Beck partners Mark Levine and Chris Lind successfully defended Hamilton Sundstrand in a patent infringement trial in Delaware. Honeywell alleged that Hamilton Sundstrand infringed a patent relating to the starting of an Auxiliary Power Unit for an airplane. Honeywell had sought $135 million in damages (including interest and treble damages). The jury found that Hamilton Sundstrand did not infringe the patent, and that the patent was invalid.
