Excerpts from the Chambers USA 2007 Client's Guide --

Chicago Litigation:

"The Firm: Bartlit Beck climbs the rankings on the strength of its unblemished reputation and unquestioned quality of lawyering. The firm may not possess the volume or the breadth of practice of some, but peers concede it to be a direct competitor for anyone in high-stakes litigation, particularly in the mass tort arena. Propelled by a couple of lawyers Kirkland & Ellis miss having on its books, this Rolls-Royce of litigation takes on little other than premium cases. 'Bartlit Beck is sui generis,' remarked one peer. 'It's simple, if you can get them on board then you do get them on board.' The firm has further enhanced its stellar reputation in the VIOXX trials—product liability's litigation du jour—while turning its hand with equal adeptness to securing a defense verdict for Hamilton Sundstrand in a patent infringement case. This firm truly has the Midas touch, and has recently displayed the variety of its practice by obtaining a $761 million settlement for client Real Networks in an antitrust case. 'They are simply the best assemblage of trial lawyers I have ever seen anywhere in the world,' remarked one client, 'they are down to earth and affable and are all people you enjoy spending time with.'

"The Lawyers: Famed for his creativity and for his enviable track record, Phil Beck is regarded by some as the go-to lawyer in Chicago. 'Combining trial skills with analytic ability,' he sets the standard for a superb team of lawyers. First port of call for Merck in the VIOXX litigation, he has twice successfully defended the pharmaceutical giant. 'I would be happy to have Phil in anything,' remarked one eminent peer, echoing a citywide sentiment. 'Just about as talented as they come,' Fred Bartlit continues to put in the hours and further enhance a spotless reputation stretching back decades. This bulldog of the courtroom, with 'the commanding voice of a disc jockey,' astounds clients and peers with his ability to remain wired up to the cutting edge of courtroom technology. Highly regarded younger lawyer Adam Hoeflich has spent the past year representing pharmaceutical and chemical companies, including DuPont and Bayer, in high-stakes commercial and product liability litigation. Immensely talented rising star Tarek Ismail won an extraordinary VIOXX victory in California in the summer of 2006, when he was pitted against the prominent and vastly experienced plaintiffs' lawyer Thomas Girardi. Blessed with 'an incredibly sharp mind,' Ismail is already an opponent to be feared.
