

BARTLIT BECK WINS PATENT INFRINGEMENT TRIAL FOR DUPONT

05.16.2017

Chris Landgraff and Mark Levine represented DuPont in a patent infringement trial against Unifrax in the District of Delaware. The patent at issue related to a fire barrier laminate for thermal blankets for airplanes. After the week-long trial, the jury returned a verdict for DuPont, finding that Unifrax infringed DuPont's patent and awarded damages of $3,272,000. Unifrax was represented by Robins Kaplan, Curatolo & Sodoti and Richards, Layton & Finger.
